An Open Letter To All Mu Alumni

As you undoubtedly know, our Temple has moved from its original location in front of the Phi Tau Fraternity to a position on the south side of the Pierce Memorial. The undergraduates can tell you what an utterly magnificent sight it was to behold as it rolled down Broad Street, shutting down the town of Hamilton for better than 12 hours. The move had been talked about for many years, but recent troubles and the undying efforts of Brother John Wilson '52 finally resulted in the contracting of Irish Millar Inc. of Syracuse, NY to coordinate the move of the Temple and its subsequent renovation. The structure, built by the hands of brothers and existing as the heart of our fraternity for 128 years, finally made its historic trek on November 17, 1994.

As talk of the move increased in recent years, the predominant feeling amongst the undergraduate brothers was one of disapproval. We were unhappy with the idea for many reasons, not the least of which is that we felt that such a move would taint the reverence the Temple commands, for as we all know, the building was "beautiful in its location." Today however, the Temple has added to the beauty already embodied in the Pierce Memorial, and we can assure you that the two now becoming one is truly impressive as you walk down "Cardiac" Hill from classes, and enforces a new set of warmth amongst the brothers. Now that it has moved, we are growing used to it and are satisfied above all else that it made it through its journey unscathed. The next phase of the project, the renovation of the Temple, raises another set of questions, some of them financial.

The money for the move itself was raised successfully, but it has become known to us that funding is not being as easily obtained for the renovation. Construction is currently ongoing, which we notice in a massive loss of parking space. Though some of you have been against the move consistently, now that it has moved and the possibilities of its usefulness have been expanded, we feel that we as a Brotherhood should do all we can to secure enough money to renovate it as it deserves. This can only come through continued and renewed alumni contributions.

We are writing this letter to alert you to our needs, and we hope that you feel that this is as worthwhile an expenditure as we do. Though the move changed the face of our Fraternity forever, the old traditions still hold true, and we would like to be able to continue the progress that the Temple renovation has made. In light of this, we would like to encourage you to contribute to the renovation funding, in whatever sum, you deem affordable and appropriate. Hopefully, sufficient collection can be made in the near future, and the final stages of the Temple's changes will be completed uninhibited. The undergraduates are an eager bunch, eager especially to realize the possibility of using again a building which has stood dormant since the fire in 1991. We would welcome any of you back for a visit to the Pierce Memorial anytime you are in the area.

In the Bonds,
Timothy B. Miller '95

Completion Of The Move And Renovation Will Be Dynamite, But...

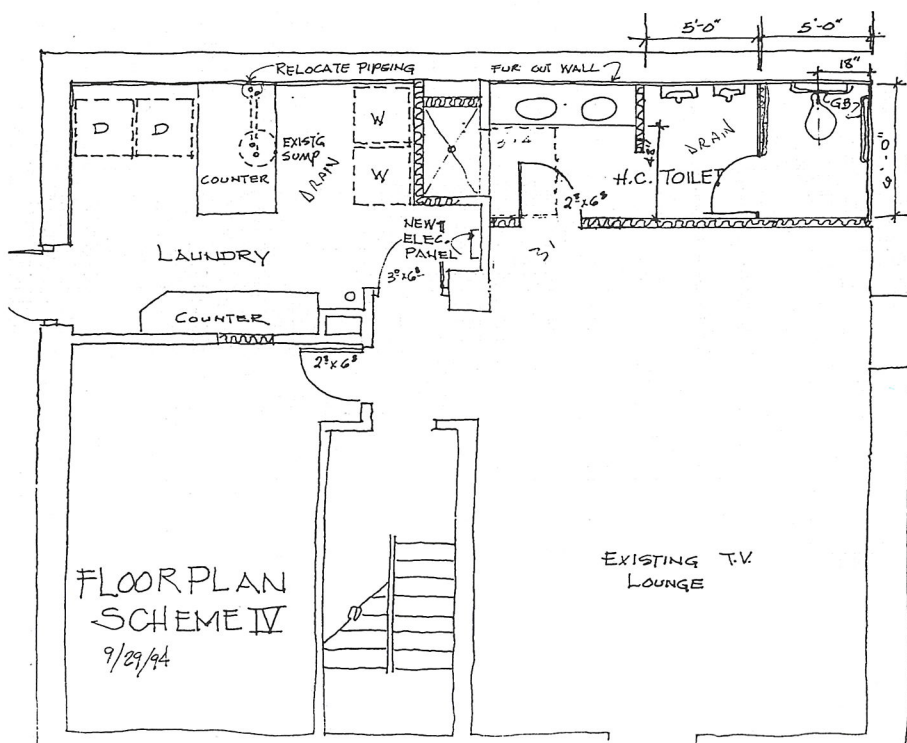

The letter from the undergraduate chapter concerning the Temple, so ably written by Brother Miller, along with the pictures of the move, express the positive sentiments we are receiving from all quarters. However, the bottom line is that we now must finish the project. You have a perfect right to ask, "What is costing so much money?" Well, let me try to explain. We had raised and budgeted a little over $200,000 and we thought this would cover the cost. However it looks like we will have to spend twice that figure. The following may shed some light.

The architectural and engineering fees will total $30,000. We estimated

The Foundation has paid the Alumni Corporation $21,000 for the land. Our first bid from the mover was $25,000. Seven years later we had to pay the mover $50,000.

We had to spend $30,000 to coordinate the move down Broad Street. This included traffic control and electric, cable, and telephone lines. About sixty people were involved.

Government interference will cost us over $100,000. The DOT alone added $25,000 of totally unnecessary expense and that is a story all by itself. The ADA, the EPA and various other government bureaucracies all "chimed in." We talked them out of requiring men's and women's handicapped bathrooms inside the Temple. We have also been able to eliminate the elevator! At this point we had spent $156,000 and we hadn't done any work at all at the new site.

To rewire the building and provide adequate electric service we thought it would cost $22,000. When we went inside the Pierce Memorial we found that an antique fuse box was servicing half the House. This service must be upgraded with circuit breakers and rewiring for safety reasons. The cost will be a minimum of $10,000.

When we raised the building we found extensive wood rot, another $8,000.

We have found that the plaster throughout the building is in much worse shape than we had thought. We are pricing restoration at the present time. If we just patch it, it will fall down again in another five years. We have just found that to re-hang and to put the proper hardware on the front doors to meet code may cost as much as $12,000.

The stair tower, also to meet code, will cost $55,000 plus.

Earthwork is another $15,000 and does not include landscaping, which is budgeted for $3,000.

The foundation, basement, new tunnel and handicap ramp are near completion and will cost $60,000. The railing another $8,000.

The trade off on eliminating the handicap toilets in the Temple was to put one in the basement of the Pierce Memorial. This makes sense as it is a major need for the day to day operation of the House. The plan is for a laundry and commercial grade toilet, but it will cost $25,000 to do it right.

The village building permit was acquired under the designation "Library". There are those skeptics who do not believe Dekes know how to read and will never believe we have a library on the premises, but that is their problem. Our budget here is $30,000.

We have a general contractor to pay and you will note I have not mentioned renovation requirements of a confidential nature, but these are substantial also.

I have reviewed the above knowing that when Mu alumni understand the need, they will meet the challenge. We would like to honor those who make major donations. A number of alumni have stepped up and made major contributions. But those others who are able must dig down a little deeper as well. John Cizek reports that money is in to buy a brick for every member of the Class of 1952. That's a good start. How many more classes are as good as '52? Every member of The Board of Trustees of The Foundation has generously supported the move. The active chapter is doing their part. Our relations with the University are positive. If you are able and want "The Band of Brothers" to continue to march to greater heights through the valley, please consider a gift of $5,000, $10,000 or $25,000 at this time.

It will be harder to compete for new members with better campus housing and rush delayed to the sophomore year. We also must meet the challenge of the radical ultra liberal elements of our modern day society. We cannot borrow to complete this project so the outcome is up to you. Help as much as you can. Whatever you can send will be appreciated.

Undergraduate Report

This past Fall was an extremely exciting semester for Mu of Delta Kappa Epsilon. Between rush, athletics, the Temple move, and the expected social activities of living within the Pierce Memorial, the brothers had a wonderfully productive and fun semester. With eight brothers returning to campus this Spring from various programs and endeavors, the Pierce Memorial is finally filling up again. There are currently thirty-three brothers living in the house and hence, we will continue to make great strides for the future of Delta Kappa Epsilon this Spring.

Returning to campus this past September, it was a thrilling experience for many of the brothers. As the current seniors in the house were merely freshman when ΔKE was suspended in '92, it was nice to finally see our Fraternity back in prime shape. Things have really turned around for us over the course of the past two semesters. This is primarily due to the quality of the undergraduate brotherhood. Not only do we have a diverse group of interests and activities, but the brothers as a whole have a genuine interest in the traditions and future of our Fraternity. This is particularly important in light of several Greek-related issues that have arose over the past few years. Namely, the SCRL report and sophomore rush. Nonetheless, it is the quality of our brotherhood and likewise, the extensive feeling of concern and care, that leads me to assure the alumni that our Fraternity is in the best shape that it has been for a long time.

Besides the obvious concern for the well-being and vitality of ΔKE, the brothers are involved in all kinds of activities. Whether be it academics, student government, athletics, community service, or other student activities, ΔKE's stand strongly in the forefront. First off, there are more brothers involved in student government than ever before. Three of us sit on the Student Association Executive Board. Jason Corrigan '95, as Vice President, Adam Graev '95, as Elections Commissioner, and myself, as Treasurer, hold three of the nine positions on the Executive Board, including two of the top three. It has been a good experience for us, but our leadership exposure has been good for the house as well. Brother Gregg Cohen '97 is President of his class. Adam Graev '95 is Chairman of Colgate Community Action Committee (CCAC), which brings various types of entertainment to campus. James Elkus '95 sits on the Disciplinary Board. Five of the fifty students on the Student Senate are ΔKE's. John Sallada '97 sits on the Inter-Fraternity Disciplinary Board, which was just recently developed to oversee

John Cizek '52, Clint Blume '52, Tom Kaim '58, and Bob Stoner '57.

Tom Carlson '93, Dave Bergerson '93, Marc Glogoff '93, Allen Lewis '93, and Travis Snell '94.

Greek-related issues. Patrick Fleming '97, who is also involved with the Inter-Fraternity Council, represents ΔKE in planning for the future of the Greek system at Colgate.

As for athletics, the alumni should be proud to learn that ΔKE was the intramural athletics leader at the end of the Fall semester. This is mainly a result of our success in such activities as tennis, flag football, billiards, trap shooting, and others. We are currently doing fairly well in ice hockey and basketball. We will keep you informed of our progress... We also have several leaders and captains in athletics as well. Jim Doyle '97 currently is the Captain of the water polo team. Likewise, Evan Reese '95, having just returned for the spring semester, will be an Assistant Coach for the varsity baseball team. In addition to Evan, there are several other baseball players in the house. Many brothers participate in rugby and crew as well. Finally, Justin Archer '97 kicks for the football team, while Andrew Sidford '97 participates in club soccer.

Still other brothers are involved in music and additional activities. Pepper Hines '95 is currently the Leader of the Colgate Thirteen, an A Cappella group, and spends a lot of time singing with fellow brother and group-mate, Brian Robinson '97. Brothers Corrigan and Michael Aguilar '96, who is abroad for the Spring semester in Japan, both sing in the Resolutions and the Colgate Choir. David Keyt '97 also sings for the Choir. The Resolutions are an A Cappella group that Jason founded two years ago. Lucky for us, Dave Clements '96 plays guitar in a campus band. They have not yet performed in the Pierce Memorial, but Dave can often be found, and heard, strumming away in the house. In addition to these musical talents, there are many brothers involved in community service. Tim Miller '95 spends time helping the Newman Community, while Brother Keyt helps coach the Hamilton High School womens' soccer team. Brothers Sallada, Adam Goldsmith '97, and Matt Garvert '97 participate in Colgate's tour guide program. All these activities, especially the leadership roles, should be good for rush...

This past fall Colgate finally moved to sophomore rush after several years of conversation. The undergraduates, having anticipated the effects of sophomore rush, took every precaution to ensure that ΔKE would not suffer from its effects. As it turned out, there were only approximately twenty to thirty men rushing (as most of the class of 1997 had joined the year before as freshmen), and subsequently, we only took a handful of guys. We took two in fact. Our two new brothers are Matthew Palazzolo '97 and Benjamin Dailey '96, both from New York City. Small classes were common on the row and an expected outcome of the implementation of sophomore rush. Next year will mark the second year of sophomore rush and, as there will be a full class rushing, things will be back to normal for the row, but especially for us. ΔKE expects a class of twenty to thirty men next fall. This is mainly due to the quality of the brotherhood and conversations with potential candidates. This past Fall we had a lot of press with the Temple move and as much as this exposure pains us (we like our privacy), we admit that all press is good press. Nonetheless, men are very interested in Delta Kappa Epsilon. We have been meeting a great many freshmen on an informal basis and are developing relationships that will surely benefit us during the official rush process next Fall.

Thus, the Pierce Memorial is slowly filling up. With a few more semesters under our belt, we should have fifty guys living in the house. Next year should be the last of the "tight" years before things are back to the way they should be. We have thirty-three brothers living in the house, and while every room is occupied, each brother has a single. This may sound strange to many of the older alumni, but some of our past problems have provided comfortable living arrangements for the brothers of recent years. Soon, however, we will be back to doubles and bunkbeds. When the present sophomores are seniors, the house will be full. We are all looking forward to that time...

One of the most interesting occurrences during the Fall semester was of course, the moving of our Temple. With serious conversations stemming back at least ten years, the undergraduates were not really sure if it would ever happen. Some undergraduates and alumni were adamantly supportive, while others were ferociously critical. In any case, though we were skeptical both of its likelihood and its ability to withstand the quarter-mile journey, November 17th marked the successful move of our Temple. For years the Temple has stood as a beautiful and dominant structure both on the upper and lower campus. Though it now stands next to the house, it appears even more dominant and still beautiful. There are really no words to describe the immensity that our property radiates with the two buildings on one site. Now that the Temple has been moved and is in the phase of renovation, it is time for us all to settle our differences and think about the well-being of our Fraternity. The undergraduates have been unable to use the building since the fire in 1991. We are looking forward to using it once again...

As we have done for at least as long as I have been a brother, ΔKE had its annual Blood Drive on October 25th. It was a great experience to work with the Red Cross and to have so many students come out in support of our efforts. We succeeded in reaching approximately 110% of our goal. While many brothers helped the Red Cross workers collect the blood, others provided a "pint" from their own arms as well. We anticipate the possibility of another blood drive this Spring, but if not, then definitely one next Fall. In addition to our philanthropy efforts, we also had a Holiday Party in December. Fifty administrators and faculty members came to the house for a evening of conversation and great Fenner food. It is safe to say that our relationship with the "hill" is improving with each semester.

Upon our return in January we were finally able to calculate the total success of last spring's phonathon. We were able to raise approximately $8,000 in donations. Thank you to all those alumni that contributed to our projects. The undergraduates took much more responsibility upon ourselves than necessary and we feel this is partly represented in the success of our efforts. We have decided, in conversations with Phil Wolfenden, the Alumni Corporation President, that this is the best track for the future as well. Although we have not yet decided how best to spend all the funds, they will undoubtedly go towards making the Pierce Memorial a better place to live. The brothers are very excited...

This spring marks the transition of leadership. Seniors will be leaving the officer positions as younger brothers take on the responsibility. As there are only thirty-three men in the house, many of the younger brothers have, subsequently, learned to grasp the realities and responsibilities of leadership and are ready to accept and meet the challenge. Many of the new officers will be current sophomores, as we have few juniors (a consequence of being off campus for a year and a half), but this is positive for two reasons. First, they have already had to accept a great deal of responsibility in the house. Second, they will be much more in touch with the traditions and needs of our house by the time they are seniors. Besides the leadership transition, this spring will witness many exciting events for our house. Sometime in March or April we will be having our annual Blackmore Scholarship Dinner, where brothers are awarded for their academic achievements. We will also be having our annual phonathon in April. Hopefully, it will turn out to be as successful as this past one. It is nice for us to be able to raise money for all sorts of projects that both make the house more beautiful and a more fun place to live.

Many of the graduates and younger brothers will be returning to Colgate for Reunion Weekend on June 1st through the 4th. With considerable progress on the Temple, we hope to see as many alumni returning as possible. Without much hesitation, I feel comfortable assuring a bit of golf, drinking, and hearty conversation.

Thank you for your continued support. The undergraduate brotherhood looks forward to seeing you Reunion Weekend or as soon as you can venture to Colgate...

R. O. McCall To Be Honored

A stone retaining wall to prevent erosion in front of the pond at the No. 10 green at Seven Oaks will be named in honor of Robert Oscar McCall, Mu'51. "R. O.," according to Bill Edwards, Phi Delt '52, originator of the project was Colgate's finest undergraduate golfer. Bill was known to challenge "R. O." for that honor on a regular basis! If you would like to support this memorial send your tax exempt check made out to Colgate University-McCall Project to Brad Houston, Colgate University, Hamilton, NY 13346.

IN HONOR OF...

As is easily seen by the long list of names shown on this page, we have found that many MU Dekes have quickly showed support for our brotherhood and the Temple renovation by generously donating their money to the "Buy A Brick" campaign.

It is equally, if not more important, to highlight those brothers and friends of MU who have donated the money and purchased a brick in honor of those who have gone before us.

A round of clicks should be loud and long for the following:

We can all be proud of the men who have volunteered to be class agents in our BRICK CAMPAIGN to raise money to complete the restoration of the Temple. Each agent has agreed to contact every member of his delegation. If you haven't had a call pick up the phone and help make their job a little easier.

DKE.

To the members of the Hamilton and Colgate University Communities:

During the recent weeks we, the brothers and alumni of Delta Kappa Epsilon, have been preparing our Temple for a move from the middle of Fraternity Row to the south side of our undergraduate residence.

The Temple was built by undergraduates in the 19th century and is of great historic and emotional significance to Dekes. We hope everyone can appreciate the sensitivities involved in this colossal, and public, undertaking.

DKE wishes to thank the Colgate and Hamilton communities for their patience and understanding. We apologize for any inconveniences which this move may have caused.

Sincerely,

David A. Schreiber, President and the Brothers of Delta Kappa Epsilon

Mu Membership Directory Production Under Way

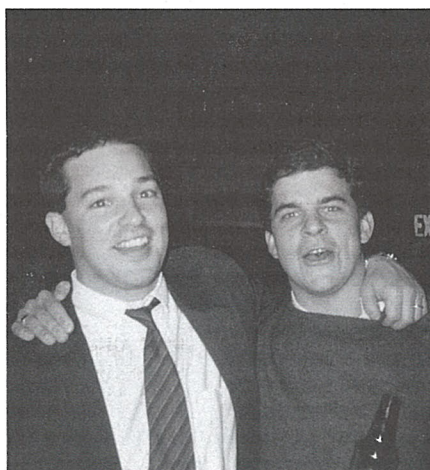

In recent years a growing number of alumni have suggested that we publish an updated directory of Mu brothers. As a result, and in an effort to increase contact among Mu Dekes, a new directory will be published this spring.

The updated directory will include an alphabetical listing of members, including name, class, home address, telephone, and occupational information when available. There will also be class and geographical listings to help you find classmates and Mu alumni as you travel. Information for the new volume is being drawn from our records and a cross-check with Colgate's.

Also included in the directory will be a special "roll of honor" recognizing Mu alumni who have answered our various calls for financial support in the past eight years, including our Brick Layers Challenge and other special appeals from the Mu of DKE Foundation, as well as dues and other contributions to the alumni corporation.

Memorial To Be Placed On Temple's Original Site

The Shapley Foundation, new owners of the property where the Temple stood for over 100 years, will erect a memorial to those who have served their country. The idea resulted from meetings with Phi Tau alumni. It will be a project of The Colgate University Inter Fraternity/Inter Sorority Alumni Association. DKE alumni and undergraduates have been invited to participate in the development of the site by the new owners. A twelve foot by four foot by eight inch piece of The Berlin Wall was acquired from the German government and has arrived in Hamilton. In addition a flag pole, benches, markers and the widening of Payne Creek are part of the plan. There will be a plaque marking it as the former site of the DKE Temple.

Jeff Manganello '90 and Steve Bosak '90.

Mu was well represented at the 150th celebration of DKE International in New Orleans on November 4-6, 1994. Left to right: Meg and Henry Stimson '78, Bill Bland '86, Lyn Robinson, John Wilson '52, and John Robinson '60.
